Mosques, museums and mezze in Manama

📍 Bahrain Fort

📍 Al Fateh Grand Mosque

📍 Traditional Arabic mezze

Enjoy a whirlwind tour of Arabian culture and cuisine in this fun-packed day that takes in some of Bahrain’s most enchanting sights.

Your tour begins with a visit to the majestic Al Fateh Grand Mosque, one of the largest in the world. Named after Bahrain’s 18th century founder, the mosque can accommodate up to 7,000 worshippers at a time. Its architecture reflects a combination of Middle Eastern styles, but its crowning glory is a giant fibreglass dome, weighing more than 60 tonnes.

Next, it’s on to the Bahrain National Museum, the country’s most popular tourist destination. With exhibits depicting life in Bahrain through the ages – including a reassembled ancient burial ground dating back to 2,800 BC – the museum’s nine halls are a treasure trove of information and insight into the region.

Our next stop will be Manama’s bazaar, located in the heart of Bahrain’s capital. Split into new and old sections, you’ll find everything from clothes and antiques to spices and traditional medicines in stalls spread across the souq’s labyrinthine lanes and alleyways. Just make sure you’ve left space in your luggage!

From bazaar to Bahrain Fort, one of the country’s most important historical sites. The fort itself was built by the Portuguese in the 16th century, but excavations of the site have revealed evidence of six other eras, including that of the Dilmun civilization in around 3,000 BC.

You’ll conclude your Bahrain adventure at the 4-star Novotel Al Dana boutique hotel and resort for some well-deserved relaxation and a bite to eat. Enjoy a non-alcoholic welcome drink on arrival, followed by a delicious array of traditional Arabic mezze, kebabs and dishes from the grill. All washed down with a glass of wine. Then it’s back to the port to reboard the ship.

The Bahrain grand tour

📍 Al Fateh Grand Mosque

📍 Bahrain Fort

📍 Pottery carving

Join us on this tour round Bahrain’s most famous sights and landmarks in just one day.

Our first call will be the Al Fateh Grand Mosque with its iconic fibreglass dome – one of the largest in the world. As well as its importance as a place of worship, it is also home to the Islamic Center library with a collection of more than 7,000 religious texts, reference books and periodicals

Then it’s on to the country’s most popular tourist destination: the Bahrain National Museum. This beautiful postmodern building overlooking the waterfront houses artefacts and exhibits spanning 5,000 years of Bahrain’s history, from the ancient Dilmun civilisation onwards. A truly immersive introduction to the region and its people.

On the way to our next destination, we’ll make a photo stop at Athar, a beautiful structure in the heart of Manama, which celebrates the contribution of Bahraini women to their country and its culture.

Next is the historic Bahrain Fort, a site steeped in ancient history. Although the fort itself dates back to the 16th century, when it was built by the Portuguese, excavations of the site have shown that the area has been populated since 2,300 BC and it may well have been the capital of the ancient Dimun empire.

The Al Jasra Handicraft Centre is our penultimate stop, located in the village of the same name. As you move through the Centre’s rooms, you’ll see examples of some of the country’s traditional crafts, including palm weaving, pottery and woodwork.

Before we head back to the ship we’ll make a final stop at the impressive King Fahd causeway – 25 kilometres of bridges and causeways completed in 1986 and connecting Bahrain and Saudi Arabia for the first time in 25,000 years.

See all the sights of the city

📍 Bahrain's World Trade Centre

📍 King Fahd causeway

📍 Al Fateh Grand Mosque

Join us as we take a whistlestop tour round Bahrain's most famous and photo-worthy sights and landmarks.

First one for the photo album will be the Al Fateh Grand Mosque. With its combination of architectural styles and huge fibreglass dome, its scale is something to behold.

Next stop, the Bahrain National Museum. Built in 1988, this $34 million postmodern complex overlooking the waterfront offers visitors a fascinating view of Bahrain through the ages, thanks to artefacts dating back to the ancient Dilmun civilisation.

The Bahrain Fort will be our next photo opportunity. Site of an ancient tell (a mound created by centuries of rebuilding) and a former Portuguese military fortification, this is one of Bahrain's most important historical locations and a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Moving on from the ancient to the very modern, we'll make our way to the 25-kilometre-long King Fahd causeway – an impressive series of bridges and causeways connecting Bahrain and Saudi Arabia. Capture its grandeur as it stretches into the distance across the Gulf of Bahrain

Our tour concludes at Bahrain's World Trade Centre – the second tallest building in Bahrain. 240 metres high, the World Trade Centre's twin sail-shaped, 50-storey towers are connected by wind turbines. As it's the first building in the world to include these in its design, it's well worth a snap.

Retrace the historic pearling pathway

📍 Bu Maher Fort

📍 Bahrain National Museum

Pearling was central to trade in Bahrain for thousands of years and in this half-day tour you'll discover the rich history of what's known as the pearling pathway - 3.5km of walkway connecting three oyster beds, the Bu Mahir Fort and 17 buildings in the historical section of Muharraq.

Before travelling to the UNESCO World Heritage Site that is the pearling pathway, you'll be collected from the port and taken to the Bahrain National Museum, where a section dedicated to the pearl diving tradition can be found in the Hall of Traditional Trades and Crafts.

Having set the context for the next part of the tour, we'll move on to the Bu Maher Fort. This part of the pearling pathway is a tribute to famous jeweller Jacques Cartier, who travelled to Bahrain in the 1920s to source its pearls with their unequalled lustre and roundness; the result of freshwater springs in the saltwater sea surrounding Bahrain.

The old houses of Muharraq have been painstakingly renovated and retain all the charming touches of old Arabia with narrow lanes and houses clustered together. You'll visit the Shaikh Ebrahim Bin Mohammed Al Khalifa Center for Culture and Research, a Kurar house and the Iqra Children's Library before enjoying a cup of tea or coffee at the restaurant on site and departing to port.

Dubai

The Dubai grand tour

📍 Palm Jumeirah

📍 Bluewaters Island

📍 Souk Madinat

With its heady mix of the traditional and the ultra modern, Dubai offers a seemingly endless list of things to see and do. But we aim to fit a lot of them into this two-day tour of this most populous city of the seven emirates.

Day one will see you exploring the modern part of Dubai, where everything has been built this millennium. First stop will be the Souk Madinat Jumeirah where you can enjoy the traditional Arabian bazaar feel as you wander along the interconnected waterways and lose yourself in the stalls selling perfumes, jewellery, spices and pottery. It also offers the perfect vantage point to see the iconic luxury Burj Al Arab hotel in its full splendour, so cameras at the ready!

Next up is the distinctive Palm Jumeirah – a striking archipelago of man made islands reclaimed from the Arabian Gulf. There'll be time to take photos of the island's breathtaking hotels, including Atlantis The Palm and its new sister hotel, Atlantis The Royal. Then we'll finish the day at the Bluewaters Island, where you can see the Ain Dubai, the world's biggest ferris wheel.

Day two of the tour starts with a trip to the Jumeirah Mosque, said to be the most photographed mosque in Dubai. Take your own pictures of this architectural treasure as your guide gives you a glimpse into the daily life of practising Muslims, before we move on to the nearby Etihad Museum.

Built on the site where the UAE was founded in 1971, the museum's iconic architecture pays homage to that auspicious day. The rise and fall of the pavilion roof call to mind the curves of the unification manuscript, while its seven columns represent the pens used by the nation's founding fathers to sign the agreement. Take some time looking around the museum's exhibits and experiences to learn more about the history of the nation.

Historic Dubai

📍 Coffee Museum

📍 Bayt Al Khanyar Museum

📍 Spice Souk

Would you like to know what Dubai looked like before the skyscrapers? Find out as we take you on a journey into Dubai's past and traditions.

You'll start in Deira, Dubai's Old Town, one of the oldest parts of the city. Mingle with the crowds at the Gold Souk and Spice Souk before boarding an abra – a traditional merchant's boat made of wood – and crossing the bustling Dubai Creek.

On the other side, you'll find the Al Fahidi Historical Neighbourhood. The winding alleyways are lined with traditional buildings, many of which have been restored to museums. Take time to explore the Bayt Al Khanyar Museum, or Dagger Museum, dedicated to the 'khanjar' dagger: a traditional symbol of strength and bravery.

Our final stop is the Coffee Museum. Here you'll have a lesson in coffee etiquette, learning how guests are honoured in Arabic culture. In this silent ritual, every gesture – such as how the cup is held – has a deep meaning. You'll leave with a memento of your day: a pouch of real Arabic coffee, so you can try and recreate what you've learned once you're back at home.

Khasab

Cruise Musandam's longest fjord

📍 Khawr Shamm

Musandam's mountainous backdrop and craggy, fjord-like inlets inspired its reputation as the Norway of Arabia. On this spectacular half-day excursion, you'll cruise along Khawr Shamm, the region's longest fjord, in a traditional Arabian dhow.

Sit back and be awed by the majestic white limestone cliffs soaring out of calm turquoise waters to heights of up to 1,000 metres. Then soak up the atmosphere as you make your way past small islands, peninsulas, coral reefs and fishing villages. You may even spot some dolphins swimming alongside the boat.

Towards the centre of Khawr Shamm you'll see a small, flat island rising out of the water. This is Telegraph Island, home in 1864 to a British telegraph station which oversaw the telegraph cable running between India and Iraq. It was abandoned five years later as the Europeans manning the station struggled to cope with the overpowering heat and humidity. There'll be no such hardships for you as you enjoy this breathtaking landscape from the cool of the water.

Explore Khasab by land and sea

Immerse yourself in the rugged beauty of the Musandam Peninsula and its capital Khasab with a coach and boat tour round some of the region's most beautiful sights.

Your day will begin with a coach trip around Khasab and its surrounding areas to whet your appetite for the sights to come. Our first scheduled stop will be the picturesque Khasab Fort, built in the 17th century by the Portuguese. The structure you see today is the result of extensive restoration work, but inside its low crenellated walls you'll see a large central tower that is thought to pre-date the fort itself.

Next we'll head to Khasab city centre and its Grand Mosque, where there'll be plenty of photo opportunities before boarding the coach to Bukha, about an hour away. You'll be treated to some spectacular scenery on the coastal road and various stops along the way to add to your holiday album.

Overlooking the Arabian Gulf, Bukha's impressive fort is beautifully preserved and well worth a look, as is the imposing watchtower perched in the mountains above.

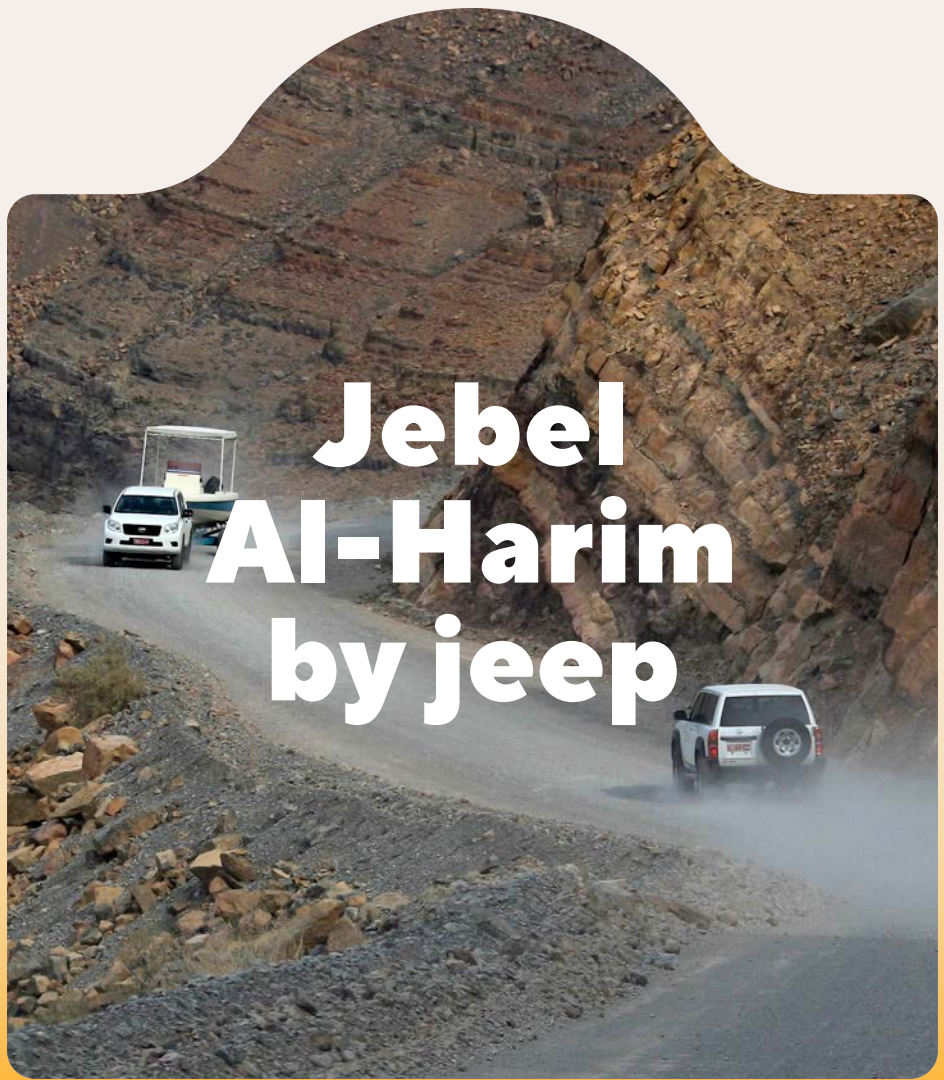

From Bukha, we'll drive to Khasab Port and swap the open road for tranquil waters. Your traditional Arabian dhow will take you along Khasab's scenic coastline then anchor for a spot of lunch on board, and snorkelling for those who want to explore the world underwater. After which, it's back to the Marina with wonderful, newly forged memories.

We'll make a stop en route at the Bedouin village of Sayah, where the inhabitants live at an elevation of 3,000 feet. Surrounded by palm groves and almond trees, this is a truly idyllic setting. And a chance to steep yourself in the traditional Bedouin way of life.

Then it's the final drive to Jebel Al-Harim's summit and the breathtaking view over the rugged grandeur of the Hajar mountain range. A suitably awe-inspiring end to an experience packed with striking scenery.

Snorkelling in the Khawr Shamm fjord

Khawr Shamm is Musandam's longest and arguably most spectacular fjord, home to Telegraph Island and your destination for this blissful half day trip.

Then you'll cruise to the middle of the fjord, where Telegraph Island rises from the water and the remains of the telegraph station can be seen. Five years after it was established to protect the telegraph cable running from India to Iraq it was abandoned, the European's in charge unable to bear the climate.

An hour's snorkelling in the pristine waters around the island will set you up for the return to Khasab Marina with photo stops on the way. Keep your fingers crossed for the dolphins that often accompany the boats sailing along Khasab's coastline. The perfect end to a relaxing day.

Sir Bani Yas

Get closer to nature

Discover the story behind the stunning wildlife of Sir Bani Yas Island with a guided tour in a specially designed Land Cruiser.

The Arabian Wildlife Park is a beautiful nature reserve that occupies more than half of the island. It was established in 1977 by Sheikh Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan when he passed a law preventing hunting on the island. His vision was to create a haven for animals – both local and foreign – to roam free and live naturally.

It's now home to thousands of animals, and your local expert guide will help you spot many different species as you explore – and give you plenty of photo stops along the way. Look out for gazelles, llamas, giraffes, ostriches and one of the world's largest herds of endangered Arabian oryx. There are cheetahs, hyenas, and more than 100 species of indigenous wild birds, while the waters around the island are home to sea turtles and dolphins.

All developmental work on the island has been carried out with a view to conserving its fragile ecosystem. You'll return to the ship having enjoyed time alongside some wonderful creatures you may otherwise never see in such a natural setting.

If you're in a larger group, you can tour the nature reserve together in a truck instead of a 4x4.
